Additional Lyrics

2. Brother, tell me where you've been sleeping these days
Anywhere I can, thats my way
Well I can't eat a meal without feeling sick
Can't go to sleep without waking up in a ditch
And I lost many friends along life's winding road
Believe me I'll have many more before I am through
And I never read The Bible but I'm sure it would agree
Having it all doesn't mean all at once
Having it all doesn't mean all at once

Additional Lyrics

2. Somewhere I've heard it said the traditions of the dead
Weigh like a nightmare on the living
For long enough I've seen you sit there, sipping a beer in your granddaddy's chair
Crying to anyone that'll hear that I never really cared.

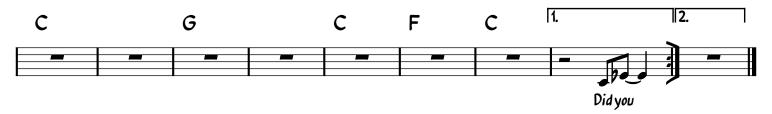

Not Tonight

as heard on "Live From Ocean City"

Additional lyrics

2. Did you find what you where lookin' for

In the alley behind the bar

I made my way home in time for theories runnin'

Cross-county through my mind

That sinking feeling like death and summer evenings

Well I know what your holding and I know what I'm needing

Tonight - well thats alright, I'll take the real thing

The Weekend

Aditional lyrics

2. Well the city's where we go to find ourselves
Now you say you can't see anybody else
Take a look at the shore line
And think back to your first sunrise.

Who Do You Love

(Me or the Party)

Additional Lyrics

2. The ladies, they all love you
The DJ dedicates the night to you
Fill your body up with cocain
You've earned the right to
